Virginia Beach Woman Sentenced to Prison for $31.8 Million Coupon Fraud

The first time the Coupon Information Corporation (CIC) called Postal Inspector Jason Thomasson with a tip about a Virginia Beach resident who they believed was making and mailing counterfeit coupons, the center didn't yet have a sense of the fraud's scale. Without a loss amount, Thomasson didn't think he could gather support for an investigation.

A few months later, the CIC, an association of manufacturers that tracks coupon fraud, called back to say they had linked over $125,000 in fakes to the suspected counterfeiter. At that point, Thomasson started asking around the FBI's Norfolk Office, where he works as a task force officer, for a partner on the investigation. Special Agent Shannon Brill was intrigued. "It was a different type of case," she said. The pair went to work.

And last month, that counterfeit coupon maker was sentenced

Deputy Rogers LCSO, observed a vehicle with improper tail-lights, speeding 62 mph in a 45 mph zone. After running the vehicle's registration, E 911 confirmed the registration to not be on file. Deputy initiated a traffic stop near Meadow Walk Lane and made contact with the occupants; driver Mr. Michael McConkey, and passenger Ms. Jessica Fondie. Deputy observed that Mr. McConkey had a new injection mark on his left arm consistent with narcotic use. Deputy also observed Ms. Fondie suspiciously moving her hand near the center console and appeared nervous. Sgt M Fagianna arrived on the scene to more than 12 years in prison and ordered to pay $31.8 million in restitution to the retailers and manufacturers who suffered losses in her scheme. Brill and Thomasson said that loss number is likely a conservative estimate of what Lori Ann Talens, 41, and her group of criminal couponers were able to steal.

Agents found thousands of fake coupons in the home of Virginia resident Lori Ann Talens.

During a search of Lori Ann Talens' home, agents found thousands of counterfeit coupons, rolls of coupon paper, and coupon designs for more than 13,000 products on her computer.

Talens' husband was also convicted for supporting the scheme and sentenced to 87 months in prison.

For anyone who has casually clipped coupons for $1.50 off shampoo or cat litter, it's hard to comprehend how fake coupons could add up to those staggering figures. But Brill and Thomasson said it came down to the volume of coupons Talens created and her ability to create fakes that offered deep discounts off of goods.

"She trained herself in the different techniques she needed to manipulate barcodes to make these coupons work," said Brill. Talens had a background in marketing and strong computer design skills. Brill and Thomasson said she was able to create a coupon for almost any grocery or drug store product and to make it for whatever value off she wanted. Often the discount was near or even over the retail value of the item.

"She had coupons for $24.99 off a $25 box of diapers. And it would work," said Thomasson. "And you'd have people walking out the door with those diapers for almost nothing."

The investigators said store cashiers are not asked to question the coupons customers are using. "That's not their job," said Brill. If the coupon scanned correctly, the store would honor it, she explained.

"Someone has to eat those losses. It ultimately funnels down to us, the consumers."

Postal Inspector Jason Thomasson

So the fakes would go undiscovered for weeks or even months. Coupons typically travel from local stores to central coupon clearinghouses. The coupon clearinghouses collect them and then bill the product manufacturer for their value. That's how the retailer gets repaid.

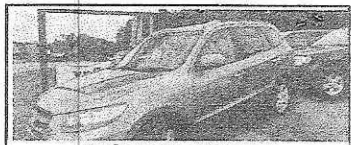

"If the coupons are rejected, if they are counterfeit, then the retailer doesn't get paid back for them," said Brill. "But that whole process takes a lot of time. By the time a coupon gets identified as being fraudulent or fake, that coupon has already been used who knows how many times."

Talens not only regularly used her own coupons, but she sold them to a large group of subscribers who found her through social media groups. Using an encrypted app to communicate with her customers, she only allowed in new members if they were referred by an existing member of the group. Each new buyer had to send a copy of their ID and provide evidence that they had used counterfeit coupons before—a way of making sure her buyers accepted some amount of risk in the scheme. Talens accepted payment through popular payment applications or by virtual currency and sometimes exchanged coupons for stolen rolls of the special paper stores use to print out coupons.

Horoscopes

who's trying to stay on task and take things seriously. It may be difficult for you to know how far to push a situation. You may want to force the other person to join your escapades, but you also see the need to settle down and get serious.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

Gadgets and new devices that are supposed to make it easier to accomplish certain tasks may actually cause more confusion. You're often a big fan of doing things the old-fashioned way. Even though people may laugh at you, you tend to insist that the old way is the best way. Take your time to complete chores and tasks today.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

Be careful about going overboard with your sarcasm. Some people take your comments seriously. Not everyone understands your humor. This could make communication unclear at times. Deliver a straight story without exaggeration or embellishment thrown in to make things juicier. Don't just tell the truth - tell the whole truth. You'll feel better about the situation.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

Self-image could be a difficult issue for you. Perhaps you've painted a false picture of yourself lately. In an effort to cover your insecurity, you may not have expressed how you feel to some people. When you look in a mirror, you may find that the person you see is quite different than the person other people see. This conflict may put you in some uncomfortable situations.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

You may feel like there's absolutely nowhere to turn. Reality is a scary thing to face. The last thing you want to do is be serious. But you're finding it difficult to get satisfaction from your fantasy world. Your dreams beckon to you, but you're afraid to give in to that temptation because you feel a strong sense of duty to other people and places.

Aries 3/21-4/19

You have a strong sense of self. You take charge of situations instead of letting them take charge of you. But this sense of independence and self-confidence may threaten other people. There are some who feel secure knowing that you rely on them. This is one of those days when you may feel a few growing pains as shifting personalities clash with comfortable behavior patterns.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

You may feel like a mediator between two camps, or you may be the one in a struggle that needs mediation. The big problem with the tension today is that one side could be headstrong and bound to the facts and the truth, while the other is bound to a broader perspective, not necessarily a realistic one. Facts could get twisted in all directions depending on who's delivering them.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Be careful about taking everything as a personal offense. Others' inconsiderate actions may hurt you emotionally, but they don't have to. As long as you're able to maintain a healthy perspective on the situation, you'll see that many of the behaviors that upset you result from someone else's insecurities as opposed to their lack of affection for you.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Difficult tension may be frustrating for you to handle. You may wonder why everyone can't just get along. The answer may seem simple to you, with your easygoing attitude. Unfortunately, there are big egos and unrealistic attitudes involved that make it difficult for other people to see things so simply. You may find that the best you can do is take a step away from the fire.

Leo 7/23-8/22

Tension may arise among friends when someone suddenly feels like an ignored third wheel. People tend to pair up. Do what you can to stay on topics to which everyone can contribute equally. Staying united is key. Together you're extremely powerful allies, while divided you're each other's worst enemies.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Your lively, imaginative spirit is in tune with the collective. The need for a worldly consciousness and evolving humanity has become more obvious to you as time goes by. These issues come up today, but don't be surprised if you get a reality check. Your dreams may be unrealistic. Someone could try to burst your bubble, so be careful. Don't lose sight of your goals.

Libra 9/23-10/22
Just when you slow down, simplify, and plan, things start to pick up again. Your imagination starts to fly. Stabilization hinders your creative spirit. The last thing your artistic mind wants to do is slow down. Resolving this inner conflict may be hard, but it's possible. These two sides are on the same team, not opposing ones. If they work together, you can both achieve both goals.
