Charges Against North Korean Hackers Show Cyber Thieves Shifting to Virtual Currency Markets and Exchanges

Federal charges unsealed in February against three computer programmers linked to the government of North Korea illustrate the appeal of cryptocurrency markets and exchanges for theft and fraud.

The assumed anonymity, relative lack of transparency, and varying regulations in the world of virtual currencies have made them the payment of choice on darknet marketplaces and in ransomware attacks and other criminal schemes. But according to an October 2020 report from the Attorney General's Cyber Digital Task Force, those same qualities make them "particularly attractive, adaptable, and scalable as a target for theft."

Media reports found $4.5 billion of cryptocurrency was reported lost to theft or fraud in 2019—more than double what was reported lost in 2018.

In explaining the threat, Justin Vallese, a Los Angeles-based

Meth

Erica Dunlap, 36, Hwy 70 Lenoir City, was charged with Mfg/Del/Sale or Poss. Of Meth.

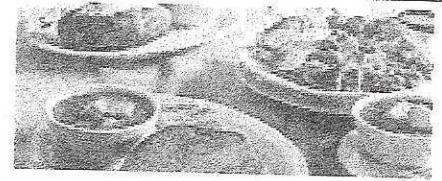

Paul Brown, 44, Washington Pike Coryton, was charged with Mfg/Del/Sale or Poss. of Meth, and Driving on Revoked/Suspended License.

Deputy Clay Jenkins LCSO, and Deputy Ethan Carroll, conducted a traffic stop on a gold Chevy Malibu TN registration 0W51N6 after pacing the vehicle 52 mph in a 45 mph zone at the intersection of Timber Ridge Dr. and Carters Chapel Rd. Deputy then made contact with driver Paul Brown who advised he did not have a license.

It was then found that Mr. Brown had a revoked license, confirmed through Loudon County dispatch. Deputy then asked Mr. Brown if there was anything illegal in the vehicle to which he said no and consented to a vehicle search. Deputy then made contact with passenger Erica Dunlap and asked if there was anything illegal in the vehicle in which she advised that she had a rig in the passenger side door.

Upon search of the vehicle, Deputy then located a small plastic baggy containing a crystal-like substance (Methamphetamine) weighing approx. 0.7 grams located on the passenger side floorboard. Deputy then located another plastic baggy containing a crystal-like substance (Methamphetamine) weighing 0.4 grams in a cigarette pack located in the center cup holder. Both Mr. Brown and Ms. Dunlap denied ownership of the methamphetamine and were then taken into custody and transported to the Loudon County Jail without incident. All of this did occur in Loudon County, TN.

PI

Crystal Hall, 42, Crooked Oak Drive Lenoir City, was charged with Public Intoxication.

Deputy Bengel LCSO, responded to the Crossroads Christian Academy in reference to a suspicious person. The Complainant called Sgt. Dragon with LCPD and stated that the female was using narcotics. Upon arrival Deputy spoke to the Complainant who stated that she was sitting in the wood line and had been there for a few hours without moving. Deputy located the female, who was sitting on the top of a sewage lift station and hunched over. Deputy approached the female who was not responsive. Once the female awoke, she spoke with slurred speech and was extremely hard to understand. Deputy identified the Offender, Crystal Hall, who stated that she came from a friend's house, close to Waffle House, and was out for a walk. Deputy observed an empty, clear plastic baggy next to Hall and her belongings on the lift station. Such baggies are typically used for packaging illicit narcotics.

Hall consented to SFST to which she performed poorly. Hall was clearly a danger to herself and was taken into custody for Public Intoxication and transported to the Loudon County Jail. This did occur in Loudon County, TN.

Crypto

FBI special agent who worked on the investigation into the North Korean hackers, said, "Criminals are always looking for less risk and greater reward." And for now, the world of virtual currencies can offer that.

A Sustained Campaign of Cyber Intrusions and Thefts

The indictment unsealed on February 17 added to the charges previously brought against one member of the group, Park Jin Hyok, for the 2014 cyber intrusion into Sony Pictures, a cyber-heist from Bank of Bangladesh, and the release of a damaging ransomware variant known as WannaCry 2.0.

The newer charges allege Park and two colleagues attempted numerous destructive cyber intrusions, which included an array of cyber-enabled bank heists.

These efforts were designed to steal billions of dollars to fund a North Korean regime stifled by international sanctions.

Assistant Attorney General John C. Demers of the Justice Department's National Security Division described their efforts this way: "North Korea's operatives, using keyboards rather than guns, stealing digital wallets of cryptocurrency instead of sacks of cash, are the world's leading bank robbers."

The North Korean hackers are alleged to have created several malicious cryptocurrency applications that looked legitimate but contained malware that provided the hackers access to the computers of victims who downloaded them. Those targeted could be individual investors but were more likely to be employees of virtual currency exchanges. The applications were supported by professional-looking websites that added an air of legitimacy to the new tools.

"When deciding where to put money, make an informed decision. Do your due diligence. Understand if they are a well-established, trusted exchange."

- Justin Vallese, special agent, FBI Los Angeles

Once the application was installed, it could give the criminals access to the victim's cryptocurrency wallets and private keys—allowing them to transfer funds from the victim's wallet to cryptocurrency wallets controlled by the hackers.

These tactics and others allowed the North Korean hackers to steal $75 million from a Slovenian cryptocurrency company, $24.9 million from an Indonesian cryptocurrency company, and $11.8 million from a financial services company in New York between 2017 and 2020.

Losses can affect customers who have accounts at victimized exchanges when the firms have taken such a hit that there's not enough to pay customers back on the assets they believe they have in the exchange.

The markets and exchanges for virtual currencies are attractive to criminals because they provide relatively fewer complications than thefts from traditional financial institutions.

For example, the charges allege the hackers attempted to steal $951 million via Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication (SWIFT) transfers from the Bank of Bangla-

Reckless

Britton Felknor, 55, Main Street Sweetwater, was charged with Simple Possession, and Reckless Endangerment.

Deputy Chance Gray LCSO, was behind a black Nissan Altima on Highway 11 near Calloway road. While behind the vehicle the driver later identified as Britton A Felknor, passed a tractor trailer on the double yellow line with multiple cars coming in the other lane. Deputy then activated his emergency equipment but could not get around the truck due to the traffic coming in the other lane of travel. The vehicle then continued down highway 11 at a high rate of speed. Deputy then was able to catch up to the vehicle and it did pull over on highway 11 at legacy park. Upon stop Mr. Felknor stated that he was not running that he was just testing his vehicle out. Mr. Felknor was asked if there was anything in the vehicle to which he stated no. While waiting on dispatch to run Mr. Felknors license through NCIC, Deputy deployed K-9 Kora on the vehicle to which she did alert to the drivers side window of the vehicle. During a search of the vehicle multiple joints in the vehicle with a green leafy substance believed to be marijuana were located throughout the vehicle with a total weight of 1.6 grams. Mr. Felknor was taken into custody for reckless endangerment due to him putting multiple motorist in danger passing on the double yellow line, and simple possession. This did occur in Loudon County Tennessee.

the safeguards that were in place at the bank prevented further damage.

Another difficulty of schemes targeting traditional banking institutions is the need to rely on a larger network of criminals to help steal and then launder the money.

“Criminals aren’t always reliable,” Vallese said. “So there is a great deal of risk involved between the theft and the money reaching the hackers’ accounts. With cryptocurrency, you cut out nearly all the middle-men.”

today, Pisces. This is important, as it may relate to financial concerns or a creative project that you've been working on. The information it contains should motivate you to move ahead and put this matter to rest. Much of your day could be spent dealing with this. Go to it!

Aries 3/21-4/19

Discussions with close friends could lead to ideas for creative projects of some kind, Aries. Although the projects themselves may center on writing, music, drama, graphics, or teaching, today's brainstorming is likely to center more on business and marketing than artistic matters. Nonetheless, you could walk away feeling inspired and motivated. Write down your ideas.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Money matters might require your attention today, Taurus. Concerns involving the home are on your mind. You may need to work on the household accounts or balance the records of a home business. You may put in more time than necessary. Don't assume the worst! All should be basically well, so you probably could just balance the accounts and move on. You have other things to do, too!

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Deep thought that occupies your time today could lead to some fascinating conversations with a close friend or partner, Gemini. Lots of ideas and useful information could be discussed and lead to new projects, perhaps involving writing or teaching. You will want to research every possible contingency before making definite plans, so get busy. You don't want to pass up a lucrative opportunity.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

Today your imagination is likely to be flying high. Cancer, drawing on past images and events that you may have forgotten. You may wonder about the commercial potential of your thoughts. A conversation with a friend who knows this subject could prove enlightening. Write your ideas down and learn as much as you can about your various options over the next few days. You might be surprised!

Leo 7/23-8/22

A friend could put forth some ideas regarding incorporating the arts into a business enterprise, Leo. A lot of discussion could result, though it's unlikely that any final decisions will be made now. More ideas should come over the next few days. Some intense research on your end should shed some light on the workability of the project. Go to it!

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Imagination and insights definitely advance a project today, Virgo. Discussions, perhaps involving money, spur you and your collaborators on to new innovative projects that might prove to be of great benefit to all. Don't let your inspiration stop there. Let the ideas and images spur you on toward new enterprises and horizons. Make the most of them in every possible way.

Libra 9/23-10/22

Friends who have been traveling or live far away could bring some interesting news your way that hasn't yet broken in your area, Libra. This might make you curious to do some research on the subject. Take everything you hear with a grain of salt until you determine the facts for yourself. Things can get garbled in translation when you hear things second or third hand.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Today you might give some thought to career matters, Scorpio. You're probably trying to brainstorm ingenious ways to advance professionally and increase your income. A number of different options might present themselves, some workable, some not. It might not be easy to put them into action, but keep trying. Obstacles always arise when you're trying something new. You will get there.

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

Your partner may return from a journey today, Sagittarius, and a deep conversation could follow. Your friend will share stories of the trip, which could lead to talk about the relationship's future. Nothing is apt to be decided. The discussion is more likely to focus on generalities than specifics. You will gain a stronger understanding of your partner and how things could shape up.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

Today you may feel a little out of sorts, Capricorn, but your creative energies are likely to flow freely. Inspiration could come from deep within you. You're probably more focused than usual, and therefore can spend considerable time working on a task or project without getting restless. Give free rein to your ideas. They might seem a bit dark and strange at first, but they're important.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

The survival of a partnership could depend on some open and honest communication today, Aquarius. Conflicting issues may be simmering and need to be aired in a sensitive and caring way. It's vital to express the affection you feel for your partner and the importance of this partnership to you. The conversation may not be an easy one, but you will feel better for it by day's end.

New Currencies Require the Same Caution

Vallese noted that as the value of certain cryptocurrencies has soared, more people are looking to invest in them. "It's definitely somewhere people want to be," he said. "But where there is potential for earning, there is potential for risk and loss."

While no one can guarantee any investment will retain or gain value, where an investor chooses to hold that investment should have strong protections in place to guard against cyber intrusions and thefts.

"When deciding where to put money, make an informed decision," Vallese said. "Do your due diligence. Understand if they are a well-established, trusted exchange." Some important questions to ask are: Where is the exchange located? What kind of security practices are used? What kind of monitoring and regulations are in place?

The FBI is working with a wide array of government and law enforcement agencies in the U.S. and abroad to identify and address new cyber threats. The private sector is a key partner in helping gather and share information. And, of course, being aware of cyber threats and taking proper cyber security precautions is the responsibility of every individual.

Even if the investment is a novel one, apply the same rigor as you would with any other financial choice. And as with any online interaction, carefully weigh the possible risks before opening any email, clicking on a link, opening an attachment, or downloading an application.
