City Employee Sentenced for Public Corruption

Philadelphia Employee Accepted Bribes While Working Government Job

Jeffrey Blackwell's job in the Philadelphia controller's office was to root out corruption and mismanagement.

Instead, Blackwell was taking bribes himself—telling people he could get them city permits or contracts in exchange for cash.

The FBI learned in 2013 that several people with business before the city were paying cash bribes to Blackwell. Blackwell promised those who paid him—people seeking permits to do things like place a dumpster or sell cars—that he could cut through the red tape and help them.

"The exact thing he was getting paid to prevent by the taxpayers of Philadelphia, he was doing himself," said Special Agent Brian Coughlin, who investigated this case out of the FBI's Philadelphia Field Office.

But in 2015, one of Blackwell's bribery "customers" was actually an FBI confidential source. The source captured Blackwell on Deputy Rogers LCSO, observed a Cadillac Deville traveling on I75 SB in the area of the 84mm. Deputy noted that the vehicle had a bright led tag light hanging down in front of the registration effectively making the tag unreadable. Deputy initiated a traffic stop in the area of the 81mm at which time Loudon Co. E911 advised the tag was not on file. Upon contact with the occupants Deputy observed syringe caps laying throughout the vehicle. The driver Mr. Dustin Biggerstaff stated he did not have a license and did not know the vehicle wasn't registered. While speaking with the passengers, Mr. Kelly Debord and Adam Yeary, Deputy noticed their perceived destinations didn't not match with the driver's statement. Deputy had the see Trio ctd. pg. 7

Stop

Charles Harrell, 25, Oak Grove Road Madisonville, was charged with DUI, Open Container, and Speeding 21 MPH over Limit.

Deputy Rogers LCSO, observed a vehicle moving at a high rate of speed on Hwy 11. RADAR unit advised the vehicle was traveling 72mph in a 50mph zone. As Deputy was attempting to turn around on the vehicle it accelerated out of sight. Deputy continued to the intersection of Hwy 11 at Ford Rd where Deputy found the vehicle at the Red Light. Once the light turned green the vehicle accelerated again and swerved violently over the center line. Deputy initiated a traffic stop in the area of Pardue Lane and the vehicle stopped in the lane of travel. Upon contact with the driver he had blood shot watery eyes and smelled strongly of an alcoholic beverage.

Deputy also observed and open beer in the cup holder. The driver/offender, Charles Harrell, stated he had been to Hooters and Twin Peaks with a friend where he had consumed at least four 24oz beers and was now headed home to Madisonville. Mr. Harrell further stated that he never saw this Deputy pass by and was speeding because he likes to drive fast.

The offender consented to SFST and ARIDE testing tape promising a city permit for a dumpster in exchange for $3,000. The source gave Blackwell $1,700 upfront. He followed up with texts to the source demanding the remaining money—which provided additional evidence in the case.

He never actually provided any service to those who paid him, but simply the offer of a benefit in exchange for a bribe is a crime, Coughlin explained.

“Blackwell took people’s money with the promise of doing things and didn’t do them,” Coughlin said.

“I grew up in this city, and it’s very frustrating to see officials use their position for personal gain.”

Brian Coughlin, special agent, FBI Philadelphia

Blackwell’s acceptance of the bribes was so brazen that when a car dealership owner paid him a bribe by check, he cashed the check while wearing his City of Philadelphia uniform shirt. The transaction was captured on security footage that was provided to agents.

Blackwell pleaded guilty to public corruption and tax fraud charges in August 2020. He was sentenced to 22 months in prison in December 2020.

Even though he only collected about $20,000, bribery is illegal and erodes the public’s trust in its government. That’s why public corruption is one of the FBI’s top priorities for criminal cases.

“I grew up in this city, and it’s very frustrating to see officials use their position for personal gain,” Coughlin said. “We’re sending a signal that we will investigate anyone using a public resource for personal benefit.”

Tennessee Archive of Moving Image and Sound to showcase recent projects “TAMIS Show and Tell” is set for Wednesday, April 14 at 7:00. Registration required.

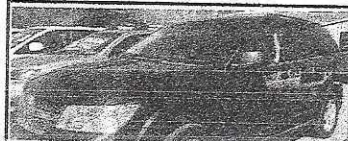

Knox County Public Library’s Tennessee Archive of Moving Image and Sound (TAMIS) has been busy digitizing and preserving recordings from the area. Join TAMIS archivists Eric Dawson and John Morton as they showcase recent projects in a virtual “Show and Tell” on Wednesday, April 14 at 7:00 p.m. The online event is free and open to the public, but registration is required.

One of TAMIS’s keystones is its large collection of home movies shot by East Tennesseans. Donated by local families, these one-of-a-kind films offer a unique view of the region’s people and places throughout the 20th century. Screenings include civic events, publicity for small businesses, and domestic vignettes here in Knoxville as well as other corners of the country. Some footage rekindles the public memory of our community, while other scenes evoke a sense of family.

DUI

Kirstin Evans, 29, Atchley Chapel Road Greenback, was charged with, DUI, Violation of Implied Consent, and Driving on Roadway Laned for Traffic.

Deputy C. Lane 930 observed a Blue Chevrolet traveling on Vonore Rd. traveling at a very low speed all over the road. Deputy observed the vehicle travel into the grass on the right of the road and quickly try to correct back into her lane and went into the other lane of travel. Upon traffic stop Deputy made contact with the driver Kristin Evans, who stated she was traveling to Greenback from Sweetwater, "the back way". Mrs. Evans speech was extremely slurred and was very incoherent. When asked if she had anything to drink she stated she had took 4 melatonin before leaving her house. Deputy asked her to step out of the car, when she did she was extremely unstable on her feet. Deputy asked Mrs. Evans if she would consent to SFST's where she did consent, and performed poorly. While performing all tests Mrs. Evans had a very difficult time staying stable. Mrs. Evans was then placed into custody and read Implied consent where she did refuse. Mrs. Evans was then transported to Loudon County Jail, Mrs. Evans was charged with TCA: 55-8-123 Driving on Roadways Laned for Traffic, TCA: 55-10-401 Driving Under The Influence, TCA: 55-10-406 Violation of Implied Consent. All said did occur in Loudon County TN.

Horoscopes

rather complex ideas. Your practical side could bring up doubts as to the applicability of what you're learning, but don't worry about that. This should become clear to you eventually.

Taurus 4/20-5/20

Your level of physical and mental energy is high today, Taurus. You may have been overindulging in food and drink lately, and so you could spend much of the day working out at the gym. Take a good book to read in the sauna, because you will also want the mental stimulation. At the end of the day you will feel good about yourself and ready to overindulge some more!

Gemini 5/21-6/20

A memory, dream, vision, or meditation could trigger a rush of spiritual energy, Gemini. As a result, you might want to jot your experiences down so you won't forget them. Try not to dwell on it too much. This isn't the time to be reclusive! The process won't stop. The insights should continue to come. Keep up your studies and meditation and you will go on growing indefinitely.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

A message from a friend could make your day, Cancer. The good news may involve travel, money, or a love relationship. There could also be an intellectual matter that you're anxious to look into, perhaps for the purpose of writing or teaching. A journey, possibly related to education, could be in the offing, perhaps with friends. A busy and stimulating day is definitely ahead.

Leo 7/23-8/22

The planetary energy leaves you in a contemplative mood, Leo. A lot of different possibilities have opened up for you recently, and you're trying to figure out which is the most appropriate now. Sometimes it's better to let things chum around in your subconscious for a while, and this could be one of those times. Forget it for now and have fun.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Talk of traveling to distant and exotic places could come up at a gathering of family and friends, Virgo. Some of the talk is pure fantasy, but there are a few people among you who are genuinely serious about their plans. Are you considering going away for a while? If so, you might listen to what your friends have to say. It would certainly be fun if all of you went together!

Libra 9/23-10/22

Career matters may be put on hold for a few days, Libra, but your professional future probably won't be far from your thoughts, even in the midst of time spent with family and friends. You want to improve your financial situation, and a number of possibilities have come up. Don't mull them over too much now. You don't want to neglect your loved ones. Relax and enjoy their company today.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

So many fascinating ideas have come your way over the past few days that your mind is spinning. Some of what you've heard could be so radical that it will take some time to make sense of it. You could also want to memorialize your thoughts, perhaps by making some notes or writing an article. Watching TV might get your mind off it all and help you relax a little. Go to it!

Sagittarius 11/22-12/21

A deep, intimate conversation could take place today between you and a romantic interest, Sagittarius. If this is a casual relationship, it may suddenly become more. If you're involved but not committed, you could reach an understanding. If you're already committed, there may even be talk of marriage. The end result of this conversation should be happiness for both of you. Celebrate tonight at home.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

This morning you may wake up from a dream with many inspiring new ideas. If you're into creative activity of any kind, you will want to jot these ideas down, as well as possibilities for bringing them to the rest of the world. This could be through music, painting, writing, or any kind of art form. Don't be surprised if your style changes a little. If nothing else, this demonstrates versatility!

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

A few extra things need to be done around the house today, Aquarius. A few more letters need to be written, a few more cleaning chores should be done, and you might still want to dress the place up a little. Your mood is very positive, and you should speed through these tasks with little energy drain. You will have plenty left for socializing tonight.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

Children may be a part of your day today, Pisces. You might attend a party for children or a larger gathering that includes them. At some point you might even be telling them a story. This will probably be as much fun for you as for your audience, who are likely to be very appreciative. Don't be afraid to ham it up a little - they'll love it!
