Subject Barricades Himself In After Hurting Family Dog

On Tuesday at approximately 1:45pm the Loudon County E-911 Center received a call from a resident in the 11000 block of Hwy 11 E in Lenoir City. The resident informed dispatch that his son, identified as Darian Farley, had killed their family dog and was threatening harm to him. There was an additional resident in the house in an upstairs bedroom.

Loudon County Deputies responded to the scene and were able to remove the father and other resident of the house safely. Darian Farley then barricaded himself into the basement of

Sweep Targets Darknet Markets

Operation SpecTor spanned three continents, seized millions of dollars, and removed tens of thousands of potentially lethal drugs from circulation

A massive coordinated operation spanning nine countries and dozens of law enforcement agencies across the United States, Europe, and South America targeting darknet drug markets culminated recently with seizures of more than $50 million in cash and virtual currency, 1,875 pounds of potentially lethal pills and other drugs, and 288 arrests.

Operation SpecTor uncovered vast networks of manufacturers, online supply chains, buyers, re-sellers, and users, revealing that the darknet—a part of the internet accessible through an encrypted browser—provides only a veneer of anonymity. The drug seizures included about 152 pounds of fentanyl, a synthetic opioid so dangerous that two milligrams—like a few grains of salt—is a potentially lethal dose.

“The availability of dangerous substances like fentanyl on darknet marketplaces is helping to fuel the crisis that has claimed far too many American lives,” FBI Director Christopher Wray said in a statement. “That’s why we will continue to join forces with our law enforcement partners around the globe to attack this problem together.”

The operation began in late 2021. The Joint Criminal and Opioid Darknet Enforcement (JCODE) team, which the Department of Justice created in 2018, led the effort. The team coordinates complex,

LCSO OBSERVES NATIONAL DRUG ENDANGERED CHILDREN AWARENESS DAY

LOUDON COUNTY, TN - Every year the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation receives thousands of reports of children who are living in environments where they're possibly exposed to illegal drugs.

According to the TBI, a drug endangered child is one whose brain or body has been affected because of his or her parent's use of drugs or alcohol during pregnancy, or a child who is living in a home where drugs are abused or illegally made or sold.

Often times, substance abuse can also be linked to child abuse, especially in the foster care system.

People in certain professions may be able to identify risks to children earlier than others. Teachers, law enforcement officers, camp counselors, utility workers, medical workers and people in nurse-family partnerships are more likely to notice signs.

For more information on how you can help, as well as an extensive list of potential signs of a drug endangered child, please visit the link below:

SpecTor multi-agency investigations into virtual marketplaces selling dangerous and illegal drugs around the globe. The FBI was among 12 U.S. agencies working with local partners in the operation.

Overseas, the Bureau worked closely with authorities in Brazil and Europol (which provides investigative support to European law enforcement agencies) to conduct 135 arrests and seize more than $38 million.

"These darknet marketplaces and vendors are not limited by geographical boundaries, requiring us to work closely with our international partners," said Kristen Varel, a supervisory special agent in the FBI's High Tech Organized Crime Unit, which coordinates the JCODE operations. "We focus on those vendors operating on U.S. soil, but we also investigate the marketplace infrastructure, which is frequently located overseas, often in European countries."

The search uncovered 10 weapons, including one that had been modified to function as an automatic weapon.

The suspect was manufacturing thousands of pills using pill press machines.

In one operation in the U.S. last fall, investigators found six pill presses; 10 weapons; bundles of cash; and approximately 450 pounds of illegal drugs, which included thousands of pills, powdered fentanyl, marijuana, mushrooms, heroin, and other substances in a California basement.

Here in the U.S., the FBI partners with federal agencies with expertise in every facet of the drug pipeline, from pill presses and social media posts to packages in the mail. That includes the Drug Enforcement Administration, Homeland Security Investigations, the Internal Revenue Service, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Postal Inspection Service, which is the law enforcement arm of the U.S. Postal Service.

"JCODE would not be successful without the partnerships," Varel said. "Everything hits on multiple locations. We have shipments going back and forth between states and even countries. And so it's key that we all work together on this."

Law enforcement conducted more seizures—including 117 firearms—during Operation SpecTor than any prior operation. The number of arrests, including 153 in the U.S., are the most ever for any JCODE operation.

Failure to stem the tide of illegal counterfeit opioids is not an option. Deaths caused by synthetic opioids like fentanyl increased to 71,238 in 2021, up from 57,834 in 2020, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). More than 564,000 people died from opioid-involved overdoses between 1999 and 2020, according to the CDC.

JCODE's approach to investigations is two-pronged. Teams target the infrastructure of the darknet marketplaces to ultimately take them offline. They then analyze the data, including usernames and accounts, to develop leads they can send to partner agencies around the world to build out investigations. The FBI alone has 56 field offices that can run down leads on suspects in their respective communities who have been identified as potentially selling or buying drugs traced back to the darknet markets.

Horoscopes

ly? If so, sit for a moment and try to collect your thoughts. If you can't, leave it for now.

Gemini 5/21-6/20

Don't listen to gossip today, Gemini. Any rumors that are spreading are likely to be based on false assumptions and totally outside the realm of reality. Yet someone who loves to talk is very convincing! Take anything you hear that you can't immediately verify with a grain of salt, if not the whole shaker.

Cancer 6/21-7/22

A luxury you've been craving could seem very tempting today, Cancer. Make sure you're really ready, willing, and able to spend the money to get it. Think about it carefully before whipping out your credit card. Do you really want it that much? Is the expense feasible right now? If so, go for it.

Leo 7/23-8/22

Emotional turmoil may overwhelm your usual objectivity and good sense today, Leo. Family problems could weigh on your mind, as communication between you and family members may be lacking. You might not feel in touch with what's going on. Try to encourage them to talk to you. If they won't, move on.

Virgo 8/23-9/22

Your imagination should fly high today, Virgo. Whether you're into writing, music, or dance, make the most of your creative inspiration. If you don't, your ideas may vanish as soon as they appear. If you're too busy, at least make time to jot down your insights and any possibilities for developing them.

Libra 9/23-10/22

Doubts about a friend may plague you today, Libra. Did this person borrow money? Promise to do you a favor? Can you depend on this person? The best way to judge is by their track record. If they've been undependable in the past, chances are they might be again. It might be best for you to turn to someone else.

Scorpio 10/23-11/21

Confusion might get in the way of anything you hope to accomplish today, Scorpio. You may feel like you're walking around in a daze, uncertain of your actions. Try to stay focused and be your usual practical, objective self. It might not come as easily for you as it usually does, but you can do it. Have some coffee and make a list of what needs to be done. Sometimes that's all it takes.

Sagittarius

11/22-12/21

Spiritual and metaphysical concepts may seem murky to you today, Sagittarius. Ideas that friends accept as matters of course might feel strange. Don't get into an argument. Ask about books, websites, or magazines that you can consult for more input and, hopefully, clarity. Find out about future lectures on the subject.

Capricorn 12/22-01/19

A strange, bothersome feeling could plague you today, Capricorn, as if you can't remember something you need to do. Don't drive yourself crazy over this. Chances are you haven't forgotten anything but had a rather irritating dream. If you can't seem to shake the idea, try asking your subconscious to pull up the dream. Write it down.

Aquarius 1/20-2/18

Is a romantic partner having trouble communicating with family, Aquarius? If so, be prepared to hear about it today. Be a good listener. Your understanding and objectivity will be greatly appreciated. Your beloved probably isn't seeing the real facts and needs an outside party to point this out. However, avoid the temptation to patronize.

Pisces 2/19-3/20

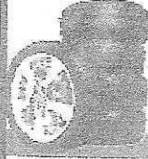

Listen carefully when you receive instructions today, Pisces. Your mind may not be as sharp as usual. If you aren't careful, you could get on the wrong track and end up having to start all over again. Don't be too shy or ashamed to ask questions.

Aries 3/21-4/19

A heightened sense of idealized romance could hit you today, Aries. If you aren't currently involved, beware! That wonderful new person you've just met may have a well-hidden side. If you're currently involved, expect a simultaneous high from romantic exhilaration and insecurity that maybe your beloved doesn't love you anymore. Either way, try to forget it.
