Operation marks one of the largest-ever U.S.-led enforcement actions against a botnet

FBI Director Christopher Way announces a major operation targeting the Qakbot botnet.

On August 29, the FBI and the Justice Department announced a multinational operation to disrupt and dismantle the malware and bot-net known as Qakbot.

The action, which took place in the U.S., France, Germany, the Netherlands, Romania, Latvia, and the United Kingdom, represents one of the largest U.S.-led disruptions of a botnet infrastructure used by cybercriminals to commit ransomware, financial fraud, and other cyber-enabled criminal activity.

"The FBI neutralized this far-reaching criminal supply chain, cutting it off at the knees," said FBI Director Christopher Wray. "The victims ranged from financial institutions on the East Coast to a critical infrastructure government contractor in the Midwest to a medical device manufacturer on the West Coast."

Charged

Douglas Morrison, 38, Black Bluff Georgia, was charged with Man/Sell/Del/Resale Sch. I & VI, Poss. of Drug Para., Unlawful Carrying or Possession of a Weapon, and Failure to Keep Right.

Jamie Wood, 39, Asher Park Georgia, was charged with Man/Sell/Del/Resale Sch. I & VI.

Deputy Harrison LCSO, was sitting stationary at the 79-mile marker watching northbound traffic when he observed a silver sedan traveling in the left-hand lane at a slow speed being passed by tractor-trailers in the right lane. Deputy pulled out of the median and paced the vehicle at 60mph in the left-hand lane on Interstate 75 northbound. Deputy conducted a traffic stop at the 82-mile marker for the moving violation. Upon contact with the driver, Douglas Morrison, and passenger Jamie Wood, Deputy could smell the odor of marijuana emitting from the vehicle. The deputy had Morrison exit and come back to the passenger seat of his vehicle while deputy issued a written warning. While speaking with Morrison, he stated he was previously arrested for armed robbery in 2009. Due to the odor of marijuana, Deputy asked if there was any in the vehicle to which he stated they had smoked approximately an hour ago. Deputy Watson arrived on the scene to assist with a probable cause search of the vehicle. During his search, in the center console, deputy located a clear baggie containing approximately 3.5g of a green powder substance, a black bag in the driver floorboard containing a scale and a bag of marijuana weighing approximately 26.8g, a semi-automatic 9mm handgun was also concealed under the bag. As deputy made my way to the back seat, he located another bag of marijuana weighing approximately 27.8g, and in the trunk, the deputy observed a black and red suitcase. Inside the red suitcase concealed within the clothing, the deputy located a black bag, and inside the bag was a wrapped bundle of multiple bags of marijuana totaling 147g and a clear baggie containing approximately 105 multicolored "Donkey Kong" MDMA pills. Both Morrison and Wood were placed in custody and while Deputy Watson was conducting a search of Wood, he had another baggie of marijuana and two small baggies containing approximately 17 more multi-colored pills concealed in his underwear. Based on the above facts, both Wood and Morrison were placed in custody.

Once read Miranda, both subjects denied ownership of the marijuana and pills in the trunk. A criminal history search for Morrison showed multiple felony charges with one conviction date being 04-15-2005. Both subjects were transported to the Loudon County Jail without incident. This did occur in Loudon County, Tennessee.

The Qakbot malware infected victim computers primarily through spam emails that contained malicious attachments or links.

After a user downloaded or clicked the content, Qakbot delivered additional malware—including ransomware—to their computer. The computer also became part of a botnet (a network of compromised computers) and could be controlled remotely by botnet users. All the while, a Qakbot victim was typically unaware that their computer had been infected.

Since its creation in 2008, Qakbot malware has been used in ransomware attacks and other cybercrimes that caused hundreds of millions of dollars in losses to individuals and businesses in the U.S. and abroad.

"This botnet provided cybercriminals like these with a command-and-control infrastructure consisting of hundreds of thousands of computers used to carry out attacks against individuals and businesses all around the globe," Wray said.

Disrupting the Duck

As part of the operation, the FBI gained lawful access to Qakbot's infrastructure and identified over 700,000 infected computers worldwide—including more than 200,000 in the U.S.

To disrupt the botnet, the FBI redirected Qakbot traffic to Bureau-controlled servers that instructed infected computers to download an uninstaller file. This uninstaller—created to remove the Qakbot malware—untethered infected computers from the botnet and prevented the installation of any additional malware.

"All of this was made possible by the dedicated work of FBI Los Angeles, our Cyber Division at FBI Headquarters, and our partners, both here at home and overseas," said Wray. "The cyber threat facing our nation is growing more dangerous and complex every day. But our success proves that our own network and our own capabilities are more powerful."

Police beat

Raven Parsons, 19, Homeless Loudon, was charged with Domestic Assault.

Officer Ingram LPD, was dispatched to a disturbing the peace call at the Peaks of Loudon apartment complex. A neighbor called in advising he could hear two women screaming and throwing things in the apartment above him. Upon arrival Officer made contact with the victim who advised her and her daughter had a verbal altercation that turned physical. Ms. Raven Parsons advised the same. After hearing both testaments it was concluded that Raven and her boyfriend were arguing over facetime, victim became upset because they were arguing which caused an argument between the victim and Raven, then Raven threw an end table in the direction of the victim and it hit a closet door creating a hole in the door. Victim advised she grabbed Raven's wrist to defend herself, and she also advised Raven punched her in the neck. Officer did not find any physical injuries to conclude that at the time of the incident. Officer would also like to note that the victims left thumb had a small laceration and was bleeding, but she did refuse EMS. Ultimately, Ms. Parsons was placed in custody and transported to the Loudon County Jail without incident.

Horoscopes

Scorpio 10/23–11/21
 Don't fall into the self-pity trap, Scorpio. You may have a tendency to mope around until someone notices and asks what's wrong. If no one does, you might get angry and pretty soon feel like you have no friends.

Sagittarius 11/22–12/21
 You're at an emotionally climactic time, Sagittarius. You may feel like someone is putting a damper on your feelings. Perhaps you're scared or shy. Perhaps you don't feel you can express yourself the way you want to.

Capricorn 12/22–01/19
 Be careful of letting a sour mood ruin your day, Capricorn. You may not feel particularly cheerful. This is liable to have a dramatic effect on everyone else.

Aquarius 1/20–2/18
 Relationships may be a bit difficult, Aquarius, so don't force pleasanry if it doesn't come naturally. Your motto today should be, "If you don't have anything nice to say, don't say anything at all."

Pisces 2/19–3/20
 You may put other people's needs before yours, Pisces. There's an important balance between being selfish and being selfless. Don't sacrifice yourself to be a servant to others.

Aries 3/21–4/19
 Be disciplined. Maintain your boundaries in order to keep from getting swept into other people's soap operas, Aries. It may be fun to escape your problems by jumping into someone else's life, but soon you'll find the extra weight is not only taxing but also won't solve your problems.

Taurus 4/20–5/20
 Don't go overboard, Taurus. You may get so carried away in the early part of the day that by evening you notice you've gone beyond your own boundaries.

Gemini 5/21–6/20
 People may be trying to subtly communicate to you, but you may not be aware of this because you're so caught up in your own difficulties, Gemini. You may feel like you're driving with the emergency brake on.

Cancer 6/21–7/22
 You may feel like you aren't getting the attention you need or deserve, Cancer. Because of this, you may resent the people you feel you should be getting it from.

Leo 7/23–8/22
 Try not to push away the very people who are there to help you, Leo. Dumping your problems on others may be the thing that does just that.
